AMERICAN LEGION GETS BEHIND CHAU- TAQUA THIS YEAR

Maysville Chautauqua Will This Year
Be Given Under the Auspices of The Local Post American Legion.

Assurance that Maysville will have another good chautauqua this summer was given Thursday when the officers of Leslie H. Arthur Post American Legion entered into a contract with the Co-Operative Chautauquas on an auspicious basis and plans are being laid now for an intensive campaign beginning this week to pledge at least eight hundred season tickets.

The Co-Operative Chautauqua is operated as an independent chautauqua and Maysville will not be required to accept a stock program such as is given at other nearby towns but a committee of experienced men will be chosen by the Legion to select the program to be given at Maysville.

The dates have been agreed upon as the first week in the month of August and details will be worked out as soon as the 800 tickets have been pledged. Members of the American Legion and their friends will call on the people of Maysville at once asking them to pledge their support to the chautauqua and it is thought that they will experience no trouble in getting the necessary number of tickets pledged to make the meeting a financial success from the very beginning.

WILL WIRE EASTLAND SCHOOL BUILDING.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Eastland school, one of the liveliest associations of the kind in Mason county, has taken steps to wire the school building for electricity in the immediate future. Many neighborhood functions are held in the Eastland school building and they have been badly in need of light.

GOVERNOR MORROW ACCEPTS CHAIRMAN- SHIP OF S. A. WORK

Kentucky's Governor Praises Work of Salvation Army in Becoming
Head of Campaign
In State.

Covington, Ky.—In a letter to Brigadier Herbert Roberts, commanding the Salvation Army in Western Ohio and Kentucky, Edwin P. Morrow, Governor of Kentucky, accepts the state chairmanship of the Salvationists' financial drive and says:

"I not only believe in the Salvation Army and its work but I have a profound conviction that it is one of the greatest of all organized movements for the betterment both spiritually and physically of the people of America."

"It translates service into salvation and salvation again into service. It is a lifter—a builder—a helper. It salvages from the wrecks of humanity; it aids the flotsam and jetsam cast up out of humanity's surging waves, and makes from it men and women. It is light in darkness; it is help in the hour of need. It does the work of the good God in His world among His children."

State Representative Rodney G. Bryson, chairman of the Kenton county campaign, has received the following letter from Covington ex-service men, signed by their commander Carl B. Wacha:

"With our memories still fresh with the deeds of kindness done and the sacrifices made by the Salvation Army to make our existence more comfortable in France, the Norman-Barnes Post No. 70, American Legion, unanimously endorses your campaign and offers to aid and support it in any way that it can."

In behalf of the hoboes of the world, Jeff Davis, famous "King of Hoboes" has volunteered to work in Brigadier Roberts' division. "I want to do my bit for the good old Army, the best friend the guy who is down ever had," says Jeff.

R. B. ADAIR ANNOUNCES FOR RE-
ELECTION TO CITY CLERK OFFICE

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of R. B. Adair for re-election to the office of City Clerk. Mr. Adair has served as City Clerk for the past four years, and he may well be proud of his record. He has been absent from but one Council meeting in the four years he has served as City Clerk, and that absence was caused by illness. Mr. Adair's thorough knowledge of short hand and typewriting makes him a most competent clerk. He has kept all of the records of the proceedings of the City Council in a typewritten book, and Maysville now has one of the neatest city records in the state. Bob's polite and courteous ways and his friendly manner towards all makes him number his friends by the scores, and his unwavering devotion to his duties as City Clerk assures him an endorsement at the hands of the people of Maysville for another term.

ALLEGED BIG SWINDLE BLOCKED IN CINCINNATI

Federal Officials Hold Men Charged
With Attempting to Swindle
Aged Man of $25,000.

Cincinnati, April 22.—Federal officials in Cincinnati awaited Thursday the receipt of warrants issued at Huntsville, Ala., for Thomas H. Blair, 33 years old, Chicago, and Walter G. Carson, 27, Salt Lake City, who were being held at Central police station here in connection with an alleged plot to swindle Marshall Hinckman, 70, Rushville, Ind., farmer out of $25,000.

A man giving the name of A. J. Conaway, arrested at Huntsville, and W. G. Overton, arrested at Indianapolis, Ind., are being held in the same case. Hinckman, who came to Cincinnati to meet the men arrested here, told police that he first met them at Hot Springs, Ark., that they induced him to invest in some oil stock and later loaned him $25,000.

Pastorate inspectors and Cincinnati detectives searched the rooms of the man arrested and found packages of bogus money, fake membership certificates in the New York Stock Exchange and paper purporting to be letters of credit and recommendations from bankers.

U. S. REJECTS AN APPOINTMENT AS EMPIRE.

Washington, April 22.—With astonishing promptness and brevity, Secretary Hughes has replied to the appeal of Germany to mediate in the reparations controversy by offering to take the matter up with the Allies, provided Germany formulates such proposals as would present a proper basis for discussion. Germany's request was received yesterday and answered the same day in a note of just 128 words.

In his reply, Secretary Hughes declares that the United States "strongly desires" that there should be a resumption of negotiations between Germany and the Allies regarding reparations. He reiterates the "earnest hope" of the American government that Germany formulate the specified proposals. He says that the American Government can not agree to mediate with a view to acting as umpire in the settlement of the reparations dispute.

The Georgetown (O.) News-Democrat says:

Following a telephone message to Maysville to take into custody Sam Kearns and Tom Tyler, sent by Marshal Lucas, he and Deputy Sheriff John Earl Ney went there and brought them back. They were taken before Mayor Fea, where they waived examination upon a charge of bootlegging. Kearns giving bond in the sum of $1,000 and Tyler bond in the sum of $500. A hearing will be given Wednesday next.

PENSION FOR AUERDEEN WOMAN.

TAGS DISTRIBUTED BOOSTING ATTEND- ANCE ON S. S. DAY

Ten Thousand Tags Are Distributed
Among Sunday School Workers at Maysville and the County.

That ten thousand tags prepared for "Go-To-Sunday-School-Day" went like "hot cakes" and there is none left. Beginning Sunday everyone may be expected to be tagged. Tags will be much in evidence next week. Every one wearing one becomes a Sunday school booster as well as being pledged to attend himself.

The committee still has a good supply of window cards and will be glad to send them to any who may desire to use them.

Interest in Sunday school is getting to the boiling point. Some of our schools are running quarters for an overflow. Schools are urged to plan wisely their program for the day. Let there be enough in it to show the real value of the Sunday school. Teachers will no doubt their best preparation.

BUILDING ASSOCIATION CASES TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Cases Involving Debtors of Ripley
Building Association Are Heard
At Geargeawn.

Georgetown, Ohio, April 22.—Monday the Common Pleas Court was occupied by a hearing brought by Chambers Baird, as receiver for the People's Building and Loan Company, of Ripley, against Lamartine Lodge, Number 118, I. O. O. F., of Ripley. This action grew out of a loan which the lodge had been granted through the bank. The receiver made statement before the court that there was no record to show various payments which made, by receipts held by the lodge. Upon the day that L. V. Williams was arrested as secretary of the company, evidence was shown of a credit being acknowledged which the records of the building company do not show. The lodge holds receipts which indicate that the amount of its loan, now is $700. At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Stevenson took the case under advisement.

Last week Judge Clevenger heard another action brought by the receiver for the loan company, which named W. A. and Ida Williamson defendants. The evidence offered showed that the defendants had taken out shares in the company, later purchased more land and taken out more shares. Payment had been made upon this loan until a final settlement was reached. This amounted to $87 and a fraction. Williamson gave a check, which L. V. Williams, as secretary, never cashed, but took the mortgage and loan and pledged same upon personal debt. Williamson's attorneys offered money orders and checks as evidence of payment. Judge Clevenger also took this action under advisement.

CHINESE LAUNDRY IS ROBBED OF $53; WINDOW IS OPENED

Wing Sing Laundry at Third and Limestone Street Entered By Thieves and Hidden Roll of Bills Is Taken.

The Wing Sing Chinese Laundry at the corner of Limestone and Third street was robbed sometime between Tuesday evening and Friday morning. The robbery was not discovered until this morning when Wing Sing, the laundryman, went to his hiding place to get money with which to pay a bill which had been presented. It was then he found the money missing and notified the police.

Investigations by the police disclosed that the thief or thieves entered the Chinese laundry by climbing onto the wooden railing in front of the building and climbing from that awning into a window in the second story of the building. The parties then came down the stairway, through the Chinaman's sleeping quarters and into the front of the laundry where the money was hidden under a table.

The last time he had seen the money was on Tuesday night, Wing told Chief Ort. At about 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night, he counted the money and hid it between two rolls of wrapping paper under a table in the front room. There was $53, in bills, he says. It is thought by the officers that someone on the outside of the building watched the Chinaman count and hide the money and after he had retired, made their entrance and escaped with the funds. The thief evidently left the building the same way he entered it, the front door

HORRORS OF THE NEXT WAR.

There is persistent talk of the next war. Great Britain, France, Japan and America, the four greatest Powers of the modern world, are all making preparations to meet any possible military attack, and new weapons of destruction, submarines, aircraft, high explosives, lethal gasses and liquid poisons are being developed to new high points of efficiency.

It is said that a new liquid has been recently discovered by our own Chemical Warfare Service three drops of which falling upon the flesh will prove fatal. This poison could be scattered from the air like the fire and brimstone from heaven which consumed Sodom and Gomorrah. Four hundred planes equipped for its distribution could wipe out in a few hours an army of a million men, destroy a great city, and leave utter desolation behind in a wide area flying across country.

If loaded with the new explosive bombs the aircraft of today could wipe out whole blocks of buildings in a few hours, and with a single bomb destroy the largest battleship with a direct hit.

New York is so situated on a narrow peninsula, marked out by two rivers, and built up so solidly with tall structures lining deep canons into which its streets are converted, that it is peculiarly vulnerable to attack from the air day or night. If lethal gas should be released in quantities, its buildings blown in, or great fires started at widely separated points, the difficulty which its people would have in fleeing from the doomed city by ferry or by bridge, would make its destruction one of the most appalling tragedies ever recorded in history.

Neither side in the Great War undertook to make gas attacks from the air because the air forces were too nearly equal. But in a new war, if one side or the other could gain the mastery of the air and should be disposed to use this means of offense, the results would be horrifying in the extreme.

It is calculated that two hundred tons of phosgene gas, dropped every eight days, would depopulate the city of New York in a very brief time. Two airplanes operating over the city with tea-gas could force its capitulation unless every man, woman and child wore a mask. Sir Philip Gibbs says:

"Is war the law of human life? Is there something more powerful than kaisers and castes which drives masses of men against other masses in death struggles which they do not understand? Are we really poor beasts in the jungle, striving by tooth and claw, high velocity and poison gas for the survival of the fittest in an endless conflict? The world will not accept that message of despair."

Well, unless men of good will spread that spirit abroad, live like Christians, think rationally, banish prejudice and restrain passion, and substitute reason and justice for the sword and the conflict, we shall be called upon sooner than we think to pass through hell again, and see the remaining pillars of the old world order go down in the general ruin.

WHAT "POOR" SOIL FARMERS ARE DOING.

Much has been said about wornout Eastern farms and about the inability of Eastern farmers to compete with the farmers of the West and South. As a matter of fact, Eastern farms are or can be made as productive as the farms of any other section of the country. What is needed is interested young folks to make them profitable and attractive.

We just have word of a young New Jersey farmer who grew 142 bushels of corn per acre last year from selected seed, with proper fertilization and cultivation, and on no better soil than the average in the East.

The young folks in the rural communities of New Jersey are beginning to learn in a way to make them provident and thrifty. Not only are they being taught the elements of live stock production through the organization of boys and girls clubs, but the State Board of Agriculture is making it possible for those with little money or none at all to secure funds with which to purchase original stock. A limit of $100 will be placed on the expenditure for calves and young swine, while $50 will be the maximum in the case of poultry.

The movement owes much of its success to the efforts of President Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of the State Board of Agriculture, who started the fund with a loan of $10,000. The endorsement of the county club agent is all that is necessary for any boy or girl to embark in the production of pure bred live stock or fowl.

Dignity is lent the plan by enrolling the members of these clubs in the New Jersey Junior Breeders Association.

SALVATION ARMY ADVISORY BOARD.

The Salvation Army has asked that an Advisory Board of Maysville and Mason county citizens be named to give the people of Mason county an opportunity to be closer connected with the great work of the Salvation Army. This is a step in the right direction and should prove of great benefit to Maysville and Mason county.

The Salvation Army is one of the greatest institutions in the land. It is doing a work that no other organization has ever been enabled to do successfully. The spirit of the organization was shown during the great World War and there's not a man who was in that great conflict who cannot and will not say a good word for it.

Aside from its evangelistic work—street corner preaching—the Salvation Army is following a system of practical Christianity in our larger cities which is not only saving souls but saving lives as well and it is in order to be enabled to carry this great work to the country and smaller towns that the Army is organizing these Advisory Boards.

The action is a great Home Missionary movement and should have the approval and assistance of all good citizens.

SECURITY LEAGUE TAKES ACTION TO COMBAT SOCIALISM

Will Establish Branches In Institutions Throughout the County to Offset Influence of Intercollegiate Socialist Society.

New York.—The National Security League announced a nation-wide effort to offset the influence of the Intercollegiate Liberal League, just organized at Harvard by undergraduate delegates from twenty-seven American colleges and universities.

The League's plan is to enlist the aid of the alumni and alumnae of the institutions affected in the establishment of branches of the league there.

1. Stimulate patriotic spirit and knowledge and respect for American institutions among the undergraduates;

2. Give the non-radical students an opportunity for native expression and demonstration of their patriotism and love of country.

In discussing the Security League's plans in this direction today, Charlie

Orth, President of the League, said:

"The Socialists are striking at the foundation of Americanism when they attempt to implant their Utopian theories in the immature minds of the young men and young women in the colleges and universities of America.

Institutions of learning are established primarily for the dissemination of knowledge, which is acquaintance with fact and not with theory. Our colleges, moreover, do not exist for the purpose of allowing political parties to carry on propaganda for adherents to their ranks—which is the ultimate objective of the so-called 'Liberals' and the latest camouflage adopted by this branch of Socialist endeavor.

New York Letter

New York.—The revolutionary suggestion has been made that within another year or so, women will be in charge of the steeplechases in this part of the country. The number of them who are entering horses for the cross country events at Belmont Park this spring might well foreshadow something of the sort. It has jumped forward more than fifty per cent, over the 1920 season; and their horses are attention-getters, too. Mrs. Payne Whitney (daughter of the late John Hay) has entered five horses; Mrs. Brose Clark also send in five names; and while other women entrants are to be represented by only one horse apiece, there are some among them who have achieved renown enough to stand proudly by themselves.

After years when everyone had to have her house done à la one of the French Louis' or Elizabethan English or Italian Renaissance, we seem to have come finally to the exceedingly Spanish. It makes little difference as to year, either, just as it comes from that picturesquesque peninsula. Interior decorators for the past two months have been trying to slip out of New York harbor, Spainbound, without letting any other interior decorators get breeze of the fact, and now they are beginning to slip back again, bearing old Spanish hangings and doorways and other treasures under their arms. Some of us will probably get by just with hanging a pair of castanets to the chandelier, but at least we must show an effort to keep up with such things.

Even common sense is given an extra boost if you hitch a romantic trip to it somewhere. That's the idea of a new moving picture just being put out. People—young people, particularly—used to be told that it was GOOD to be sensible. Now they're shown how attractive it is. "The High Road" is the title of the picture, which was screened down in Georgia, which makes a specialty of romantic moonlight and the scenery to go with it. It is the story of a typical small city where the fairest girls in lacy frocks and high heels eat chocolates and talk sweethearts most of the day and drive and dance in the moonlight a considerable part of the night; a harmless but rather empty and unstrengthening life. Along comes a girl who has learned to play tennis and "hike" and cook out-of-doors and do a thousand other things that are fun. (She had

MONUMENTS AT SHILOH.

On Board-Excursion Steamer "Kentucky" near Fort Henry on the Tennessee, April 8, 1921.

Dear Ledger: Fifty-nine years ago I was at the battle of Shiloh. I have always wanted to go back. Mac Williams and I have talked about the prospective trip thousands and thousands of times, and always thought of taking along some old "corn juice" to buoy us up when we got to the place where Nelson saved the day.

Now Mac is gone and I have made the journey without him. He would get married and that was the end of him.

The journey to Pittsburgh Landing is made from St. Louis by water. It is 200 miles from there to St. Louis; fifty from there to Paducah and 235 from there to the battlefield.

On the second of this month—that was last Saturday—about 100 of us old veterans got on this boat—the "Kentucky"—the regular Tennessee River packet, at 5 p.m., and next morning found ourselves at Cairo. At 4 p.m. we were at Paducah and the next morning we were away up to Fort Henry, where Grant was on his way to donelson. Wednesday was the 6th (the anniversary of the battle). We were at Pittsburgh Landing. I was anxious to see the place and climbed the hill and ran out on the field with many anxious feeling. The place was so changed that I scarcely knew it. The great woods and thick underbrush were almost all gone. The big trees have all been cut out and now the second growth is only to be seen; graded roads, bridges and all kinds of improvements stretch away in every direction. Monuments, both state and regimental, are everywhere. The Park has near 4,000 acres—say 2½ miles by 3½ miles. Illinois which had more men on the field than any other state has forty monuments; Ohio has thirty-four; Iowa, twelve; and Indiana, twenty-two. Only four Southern states, Tennessee, Arkansas, Alabama and Louisiana are represented—not so at Chickamauga, where the entire South has contributed her quota. The daughters of the Confederacy have built a fine monument to the memory of General Albert S. Johnston. It cost $55,000 and is the finest thing on the field. I was much pleased with the Wisconsin monument with its striking allegorical figures in bronze. "Death in the arms of victory" for it reminded me very forcibly of that of Gen. Ralph Abercromby (who fell in 1801) Egypt during the Napoleonic wars) in St. Paul's church in London.

Pretty soon, we will pay for our salad dressing by the dropper full when we settle our luncheon check. New York restaurants are beginning to sell their cream for your coffee or your baked apple by the ounce. Ordering coffee doesn't mean anything but coffee these days. If you don't like it black, you specify how much cream you want, and then you pay for it. "It makes it easier for the patron," is the polite explanation of a restauranteur.

"Then he doesn't have to complain and bother about not having enough. He can order all he wants to use." One admires the considerateness of the plan.

Girls who have policemen for suitors ought to be tagged in some way. It is hardly fair at present. Ira Carter learned the difficulties of such a situation the other night. When he accosted Alice Fey on the street, thinking she might like to take a stroll with him, he knew nothing whatever about the fact that she not only had a policeman sweetheart, but even at that moment was en route to meet him. He thought Alice was nice and agreeable, because while she didn't talk to him, she passed two or three traffic cops without speaking to them about him and he kept walking on at her side expecting her to begin chatting any moment. Presently however, it developed that she was all the time walking toward the corner where waited her husky beau. One word to him and Ira stretched flat upon the cold, hard pavement. And as soon as he managed to rise again, he was taken to the police station and locked up. While Alice Fey walked along at her sweetheart's side and smiled gently.

The Second Tennessee regiment has a monument erected by the late Senator of that state, which cost $6,000. The Crescent regiment of New Orleans has a very attractive memorial erected by Dr. LeMonier, who was a private in that command. The Iowa state is exceedingly beautiful, being in the form of a tall Grecian column rising from a broad base of granite. The limits of this letter prevent further notice of these monuments and I have only space for another, that of Wisconsin, which constantly reminded me of that of Gen. Abercromby in St. Paul's church in London, who lost his life in the Napoleonic wars in Egypt in 1801. The Wisconsin monument is a huge block of white granite surrounded with an imposing allegorical group in bronze—a woman crowned with a laurel wreath, supporting with her right hand holding aloft a furled banner which droops about her. The entire group signifies "Death in the arms of victory." The whole thing spoke to my heart and soul as showing man's kinship to the Deity, that on the battlefield he dares to defy his mightiest hereditary enemy—death.

In the same steamer with me was an old man named Charles Barrett from Sioux Falls, S.D., who told me the following affecting story which I give as it is a true picture of what took place on the hospital boats after the wounded were picked up on the field and shipped down the river much as if so many cattle were sent off to slaughter pens. He said:

"I was a private soldier in Co. A, 46

III Regt., Col. Davis, Veatch's Brigade

Hurlbut's Division. At the time of the terrible onset of the enemy on Sunday morning, I fell badly wounded by receiving a broken thigh from a Minnie ball. This was about 9 o'clock. I lay perfectly helpless on the field without food or assistance until Sunday afternoon, say about 4 o'clock—a period of over thirty hours at which time I was taken to a hospital boat on the river. It rained on Sunday night and this added to the suffering all over the field. I was so badly hurt and so full of agony that I cannot bear to think or talk without breaking down. In a day or two about 800 of us were packed in the steamer "War Eagle" and immediately started down the stream for St. Louis. The staterooms all held a couple of men and the floor of the cabin crowded, even the boiler deck and the outside guards were full of the wounded. It may be that the hurricane root and the lower deck and the engine room down stars were occupied, but of that I know nothing. I only know that I was packed into the upper berths of a stateroom and was so cramped and confined that I could not turn over. The surgeons went about their bloody work and the carpenters did nothing, day and night, but make rude boxes for the dead. Yes, at all hours I heard nothing but the groans and cries of the wounded—only surpassed by the sound of the saw and hammer and nails in the making of the improvised collins. At irregular intervals the boat landed at some lonely spot and the dead men hastily buried. I do not know how many times we landed between Pittsburgh Landing and Paducah, but a good many. You see we had to get rid of the dead and that was the only way. Had we been out at sea, we would have dumped them overboard.

When we got to St. Louis we were ordered to Keokuk, Iowa, where a great general hospital was prepared for our reception. I do not know how long we were getting there but this I do know, that the count' of the saws and the hammer and nails of the carpenters never ceased day or night. When I got to Keokuk my father came to see me. He had long mourned me as dead. The doctor wanted to cut off my leg, this he prevented. In a short time I was discharged and given a pension of $5,234 per month. The wound in my leg continued to hurt me for many years. Finally is elongated out and for the first time I was free from pain. The number of my pension is 10,000 and a little over. Since then the pension roll has had more than a million of names added to it."

Ah! the memory of those bitter years when we groped in the dark; when our country was bleeding at every pore; when the young men of our nation—the precious seed-corn of our land—were laying down their lives to atone for the blunders of our leaders. When our generals did not know where they were going or what they were going for!

Time is ever on the wind. It was not long before the steamboat whistle told us all to come aboard and I turned away—

From the field that carnage trod Pressing the ripened vintage of our God.

Where war's dark furrowed; mid a nation's tears,
Are sown with seed to grow in other years.

To ripen when our hearts have long grown gray.

Or moulder to ashes, for many a day!

—A. N. ELIAS.

SMALL SUM SETTLES DEATH SUIT FOR $25,000.

Louisville, Ky.—While a jury was deliberating the amount of damage to award to the estate of Miss Katie Mae Harris, who was killed by the automobile of William Heit, counsel in the case reached a compromise settlement and the case was taken from the jury. The amount of the settlement was said to have been less than $1,000. Miss Harris, 17 years old, was run down and killed as she was crossing the street. The administrator of her estate filed suit for $25,000 damages.

KIDNAPPED CHILD TO MOTHER IT

San Francisco, April 22.—A woman's alleged longing to "mother" little children has led her to court here.

Mrs. Pearl Buckley is under arrest charged with kidnapping Helen Frenna. The baby's father says Mrs. Buckley stole his daughter, kept her for several days and then abandoned her at a hotel.

Mrs. Buckley told police she always had leaged for children, but they had denied her.

Several other persons claim Mrs. Buckley took their kiddies for a time, too.

FLEE POISON GAS.

Bound Brook, N. J., April 22.—Poison gas fumes, escaping from a tank at the Hemingway Chemical Co. plant, forced hundred of persons living near Middlebrook to flee for their lives early today.

The gas found its way from the tank through a leaky plate.

Men, women and children, knowing the nature of the deadly gas stored in the tank, fled from their homes as the fumes first became noticeable.

BIG BILL HAYWOOD FLEES TO RUSSIA

Secretary of I. W. W. Has Escaped America, It Is Learned When Sentence Becomes Effective.

Chicago, April 22.—Federal officials Thursday received confidential information that William D. Haywood, Secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, and scheduled to begin a sentence at the Leavenworth (Kan.) Penitentiary this week, had fled from the United States and now is in either Moscow or Riga.

Charles F. Clyne, United States District Attorney, announced that a search had been started for Haywood.

"He is not at Leavenworth, Chicago nor New York, and we have been privately informed that he has landed either at Moscow or Riga," Mr. Clyne said. "That is all we know about it, but we expect to have definite information very quickly."

Ole Christensen, attorney for Haywood, said he had been informed that Haywood sailed from New York on the Oscar II, on about April 1 and landed at Riga on about April 16. He said he thought Haywood had gone to Russia on a personal mission and that he was not fleeing from the penitentiary sentence.
